Training Programs in Toronto Schedule for May to October 2010

Bates Project Management (Bates), a division of CSI Consulting Group & Mentortech Source Inc. Bates specializes in Project Management and, since its establishment in 1975, has provided consulting and training services to numerous clients across the industry spectrum in both the public and private sectors.

Training in project management is Bates' core strength. We provide project management training through standard public programs as well as programs customized to organizations' specific requirements and environments. Bates programs are also delivered through leading education providers like Schulich Executive Education Centre at York University and CTE Solutions Inc.

Bates is Project Management Institute's (PMI) global charter member and registered education provider (REP). Our programs provide the required professional development units (PDU) that project management professionals require for acquiring and maintaining their professional credentials (e.g. PMP). Thousands of professionals in different sectors have benefited from Bates Project Management training and have successfully implemented our Bates Project Management Methodology in their respective organizations.
